AUTUMN PLANTING

BOBBINK & ATKINS

RUTHERFORD, NEW JERSEY

ROSES FOR « « « AUTUMN PLANTING

WHEN the crisp days of autumn come, and the cool nights; when the Roses bloom more red and more golden and richer pink than at any other season—now, more than ever, it is a delight to go among them planning new arrangements, considering additions to the stock of this or that favorite variety, weighing the merits of new varieties seen or heard about, and wondering which, where, and when to order them.

There is no reason why it should not be done at once. Almost always perfect success is assured in autumn planting if the simple protective measures given below are taken. Plants are strong, new, and full of summer's vigor now; and we dig and ship them as they are ordered, so that there is the least possible delay between our fields and your garden, and no loss of their precious vitality.

Prepare the beds in September or early October, if possible, by digging them 18 inches deep. Enrich the soil with well-rotted stable or cow-manure or other suitable fertilizer. Let the ground settle until the Roses arrive, so that it will be firm. Dig holes large enough to be comfortable for the roots, which should be spread horizontally with the ends pointing downward. In filling the holes, tamp the earth tightly until they are half full, then fill them with water and wait until it has entirely drained away before finishing. Cut back the tops of the plants slightly, leaving a foot or more of the branches. Before the ground freezes hill the soil about the plants as high as possible. Later, protect with a layer of light litter which will insure their safety over winter.

More detailed planting instructions will be found in our catalogue "Roses by Bobbink & Atkins," a copy of which will be mailed upon request to those who intend to plant Roses and who do not already have it.

This group of Roses are remarkably novel in shades of gold, scarlet, salmon and orange, typifying the latest developments in color and refinement of form.

Upright Japanese Yew

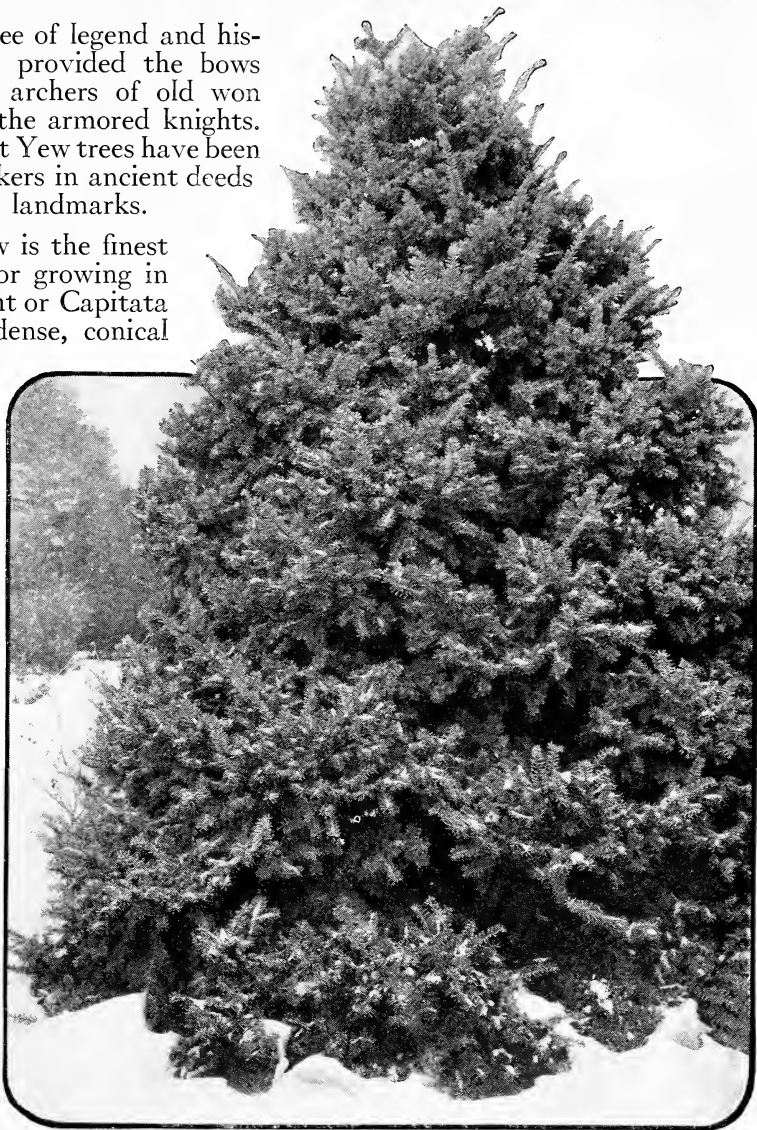

TAXUS CUSPIDATA
CAPITATA

THE Yew is a tree of legend and history. Its wood provided the bows with which the archers of old won their battles against the armored knights. It is so permanent that Yew trees have been used as property markers in ancient deeds and many are famous landmarks.

The Japanese Yew is the finest variety of this tree for growing in America. The Upright or Capitata form makes a fine, dense, conical tree with dark, glowing bottle-green foliage which turns almost black in winter, and is covered with tassels of brilliant yellow-green newfoliage in spring. As a specimen it is superb, and in masses makes a marvelous, sheltering, all-round effect. It can be used as a hedge, trimmed to any size and shape, and its compact root system does not interfere with lawns or nearby plants.

The most severe winters do it no injury, and if properly grown specimens are planted, it needs very little shearing to keep it in compact, admirable shape.

Quick-growing and almost everlasting, there is no tree or hedge material that is so beautiful or so well worth planting.

Magnolia stellata

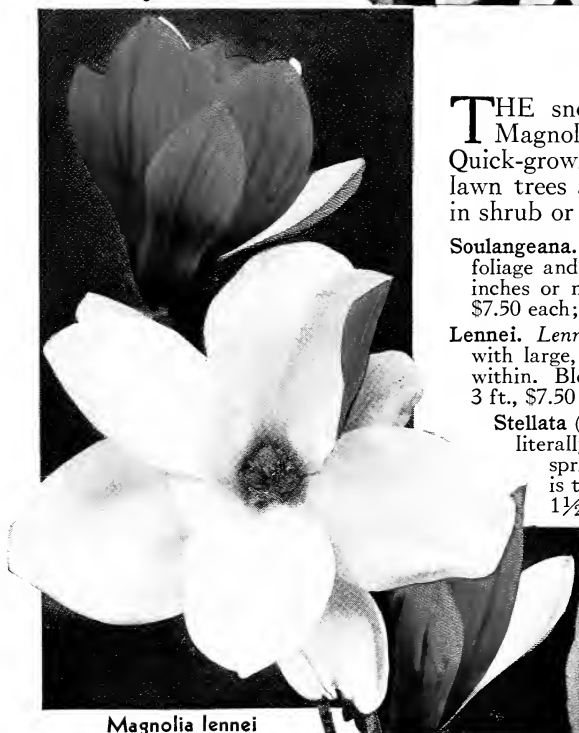

MAGNOLIAS

THE snow has scarcely vanished when the first Magnolias unfold their delicately lovely flowers. Quick-growing, always handsome, they make gorgeous lawn trees and rise gloriously above the commonplace in shrub or tree border.

Soulangeana. Saucer Magnolia. A popular tree with large, fine foliage and enormous, creamy white, sweet-scented flowers 6 inches or more across, in April. Very showy. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

Lennei. Lenne Magnolia. Shrubbier in habit than the above, with large, cupped flowers, dark crimson outside and lighter within. Blooms about two weeks after Soulangeana. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

Stellata (Halleana). Star Magnolia. A big, handsome shrub literally, overwhelmed with starry flowers very early in spring, looking like a wind-blown snow-bank. This is the earliest and loveliest of all. Specimen plants, 1½ to 2 ft., $6 each.

Magnolia lennei

Magnolia soulangeana

Additional Magnolia Varieties

Conspicua. Yulan Magnolia. A large tree from central China, with spreading branches. The very large, creamy white, sweet-scented flowers, 6 inches across, appear in April. This is, no doubt, one of the most showy species. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

Soulangeana nigra. Purple Lily Magnolia. Bushy shrub with many branches and the darkest purple flowers of all Magnolias. Blooms later than the other Chinese varieties—late May. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

Soulangeana alba superba. Large Saucer Magnolia. Pure white; small tree. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

Soulangeana Alexandrina. Alexander Magnolia. Flowers similar to those of M. Soulangeana but appearing ten days later. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

Soulangeana speciosa. Striped Saucer Magnolia. Large, campanulate white flowers, more or less purplish outside, often fragrant. 2½ to 3 ft., $7.50 each; 3 to 4 ft., $10 each.

We also offer a limited number of larger specimen Magnolias in above varieties.
Prices and sizes will be mailed upon application.

JAPANESE WEEPING CHERRY

FOR some years we have been so enthusiastic over the excellence and beauty of the Japanese Weeping Cherry that we have worked up a limited number of specimens to enable our friends to share our enjoyment and appreciation of their remarkable qualities. You must own some of these plants yourself to enjoy such intimate pleasure to the full.

JAPANESE FLOWERING CHERRIES

JAPAN is famous throughout the world as "The Land of Cherry-Blossoms." Why not transfer this beauty to your own grounds? In order to share in the beauty and gorgeous display, we advise planting now, so as to enjoy this magnificent sight in spring. All Japanese Cherries are hardy and will grow well in almost any location. They make splendid specimens for individual planting on the lawn or in the shrub border. Neither words nor pictures are able to express or justify the beauty of the "Queen of all Flowering Trees."

Alba plena. Double; white. One of the prettiest.
Amanogawa. Semi-double, fragrant, pink flowers.
Benishi. Double, rosy pink flowers, shading to blush. Makes a very beautiful display.
Double Red. Double flowers of showy crimson.
Gyoiko. Greenish flowers, with red stripes, turning pink when fully open.
Higurashi. Double, rose-pink flowers of great beauty. A very popular variety.
Hosokawanioi. Shell-pink, double flowers of exquisite charm.

James H. Veitch. A large, double, pink variety with reddish green calyx.
Mt. Fuji. Large, double, pure white flowers.
Naden. Another double, pink variety distinct from others of similar color.
Nikuruma gayeshi. Bright pink flowers.
Shirofugen. Double. Flowers delicate pinkish white.
Siebold. Showy pink, double flowers of good size and substance.
Torano-o. Excellent variety with double, rosy pink flowers.

MALUS ♦ Flowering Crab Apples

WHAT we have said about Japanese Cherries also applies to these wonderful bushy shrubs or small trees. In addition to the gorgeous flowers in spring, varying from deep carmine to the most delicate shades of pink and white, there is the conspicuous red or yellow fruit in fall, which, when it reaches maturity, is keenly relished by the birds. The flowering Crabs lend themselves well to lawn planting, also as specimens or in the shrub border.

Atrosanguinea. Carmine Crab. Deep carmine flowers, not fading white, followed by ornamental fruit.
Floribunda. Japanese Flowering Crab. Forms a shapely bush or small tree. Buds warm red, opening to light pink, softly shaded flowers with delicate fragrance. In spring the bush is a mass of color. This is the most prolific bloomer of all the Crabs.
Niedzwetzkyana. Red-vein Crab. Deep pink flowers, fading to white.

Parkmani. Parkman Crab. Semi-double flowers, beautifully flushed warm rose.
Scheideckeri. Scheidecker Crab. Large, double, light rose flowers which last for a long time.
Sieboldi calocarpa. Shrub or small tree with blush-pink flowers in clusters followed by red and yellow pea-shaped fruits.
Spectabilis. Chinese Flowering Crab. Coral-red buds paling to delicate rose when fully expanded; exquisite fragrance. Very hardy.

THE ABOVE VARIETIES, EACH

3 to 4 ft.	$2 00	5 to 6 ft.	$4 00
4 to 5 ft.	3 00	6 to 8 ft.	5 00

Eaccata. Siberian Crab. Small, spreading tree with bright green leaves and pure white, fragrant flowers, followed by ornamental yellow fruit spotted red.

Coronaria. Wild Sweet Crab. Low, bushy tree with stiff, crooked, thorny branches and sweet-scented, rosy red or blush flowers in May.

THE ABOVE VARIETIES, EACH

4 to 5 ft., $2 50	5 to 6 ft., $3 50	6 to 8 ft., $4 00
--------------------	--------------------	--------------------

Ioensis Bechteli. Bechtel's Double-flowering Crab. An exceptionally fine variety with all the good characteristics of this family. It is very hardy, forms a shapely, compact specimen, and blooms freely. The fragrant, soft pink flowers are very double, resembling a small rose in formation.

START YOUR FLOWER GARDEN WITH OUR SPECIAL SELECTION OF 100 CHOICE PERENNIALS, $15

THERE is no one, without a doubt, in this wide world who at some time in his or her life has not wished for a flower garden. Our special offer above affords an opportunity for every lover of flowers to have a small garden or the start of a larger one.

The little sketch shows how to proceed with the layout and placement of the twelve varieties of Perennials in our offer, the taller growing ones being placed in the rear, the mediums in the center, and the low growing ones in the front, as shown by the numbers 1, 2, 3, etc., each of which refers to one of the twelve varieties. These plants should be planted approximately a foot apart. Good garden soil should be used, the whole bed being well spaded before planting.

PERENNIALS

Six of the Newest and Finest Phlox Decussata

Phloxes are very showy and extremely useful hardy plants. They deserve a prominent position in every garden, since they thrive in most soils, although a rich loam is most desirable. The flower-bed should be deeply spaded and manured previous to planting. Do not plant less than five of each variety, otherwise the effective coloring of mass planting will be lost. By growing a complete collection of Phlox, a continuity of bloom can be had from early June until late fall. Height 2 to 3 feet.

Caroline Vandenberg. The bluest Phlox of all—a very beautiful, striking color. Large trusses and a free bloomer. Medium height. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Evangeline. Very rich salmon-pink, more beautiful, larger flowers and deeper color than Elizabeth Campbell. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

H. B. May. A very beautiful clear pink variety with extremely large trusses and gigantic pips. A good, robust grower. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Karl Foerster. One of the latest and best novelties. The very large flowers are an exceptionally glowing dark orange-red. A worthy improvement over Deutschland. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Leo Schlageter. A very strong, healthy growing novelty with large, pyramidal trusses of brilliant scarlet-carmine flowers having a darker center. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Professor Went. One of the most striking shades of brilliant amaranth. The flowers are borne on strong stems which need no support. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Phlox Arendsi Hybrids

These are hybrids between P. canadensis and varieties of P. decussata. They flower early in spring, and when cut back several times during the summer they will continue to bloom until fall. This "Everblooming Phlox" is a worthy asset to any border, being very floriferous, and, on account of its low height (about 1 foot) and spreading nature, it is very useful for edging herbaceous borders or in solid beds of one color, to create a magnificent mass effect.

Hanna. Bright pink with a purple sheen. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Hilda. White, suffused with lilac; pink eye. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Louise. Pale lilac with a light carmine eye. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Marianna. Dark bluish violet. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Phlox maculata, Alpha

A novelty of the greatest merit. Entirely different from any Phlox now on the market. The flower-spikes are long and pyramidal, about one-third the total height, instead of forming a truss, which can be clearly seen in our illustration. The flowers are brilliant pink. Very beautiful. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Phlox maculata, Alpha

Peony, Whitley Major

For other varieties of Peonies, consult our Herbaceous Catalogue in which we have about 150 varieties listed

Sidalcea ♦ Prairie Mallow

This beautiful perennial forms bushes about 2 to 3 feet high, producing fine spikes of good-sized flowers in July and August. Beautiful in the border and excellent as a cut-flower. We can offer the following new varieties:

Monarch. Spikes of large, rich rosy crimson, semi-double flowers in August. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Mr. Lindberg. An excellent variety with dark ruby-red flowers somewhat later than Nimmerdor. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Nimmerdor. Fine saucer-shaped flowers of delicate salmon-rose. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Scarlet Beauty. A rare and beautiful plant that produces deep amaranth-pink flower-spikes in abundance. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Cimicifuga racemosa simplex

Kamchatka Bugbane

This little-known plant should not be overlooked by any garden-lover, as it is, without doubt, one of the most beautiful attractions of the perennial border. The dense spikes of feathery white flowers are borne on slender, graceful stems 3 to 4 feet high, making them excellent for cutting and ideal for vases. The plant grows best in a half-shaded location. 75 cts. each, $7 for 10, $65 per 100.

Potentilla Hybrids ♦ Cinquefoil

These double-flowering hybrids are interesting and attractive plants for the border. They should be used more frequently as they are easy growers and produce large, double flowers in great profusion, beginning in July. Very fine for cutting and the flowers keep nearly a week.

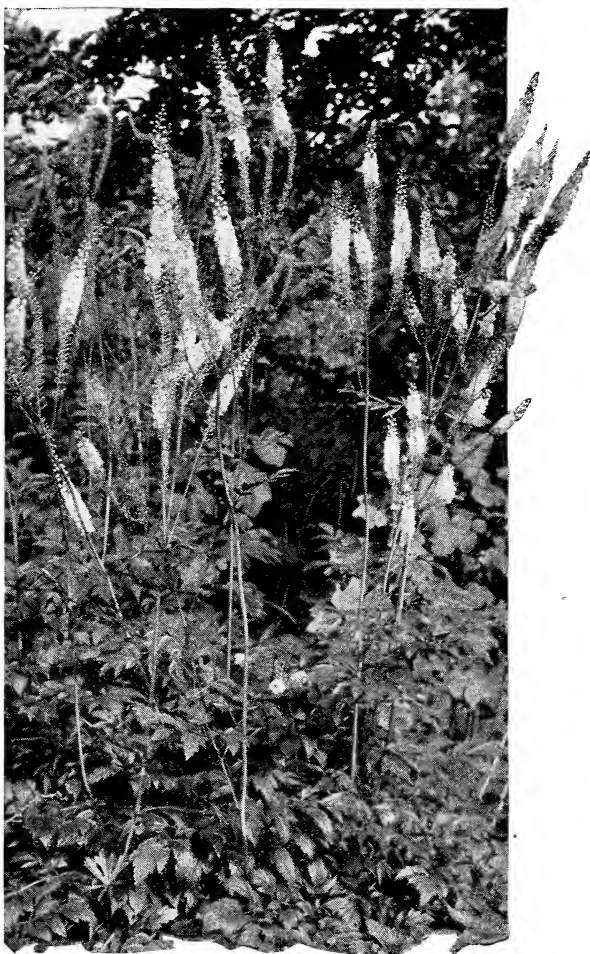

Fairy Queen. Clear yellow; double. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Panorama. Orange, striped; double. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10.

Peony, Whitley Major

Very large, evenly formed, single flowers of purest white with very pronounced center of golden stamens. It is a vigorous growing plant, slightly spreading, blooming very early and in great profusion. Dark, glossy foliage. Truly a magnificent Peony for the connoisseur, who admires the single varieties.

Undivided plants, $2 each

Cimicifuga racemosa simplex

ROCK-GARDEN PLANTS

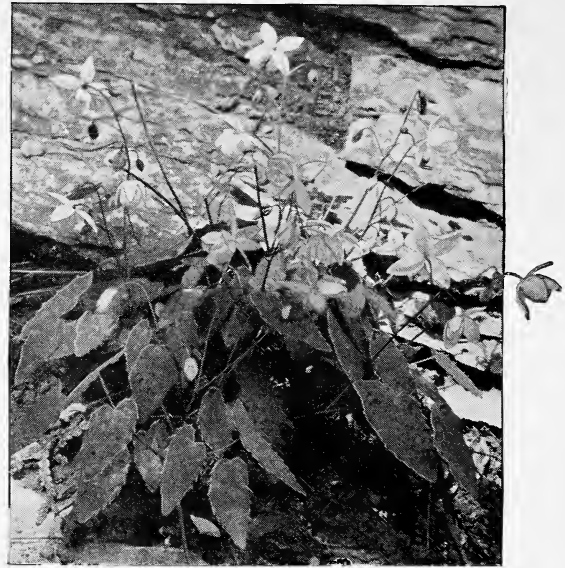

Epimedium ♦ Barrenwort

A most interesting group of hardy plants with very pretty foliage and lovely flowers. Does well in a half-shaded or shaded position. It is very effective in the rock-garden and a wonderful ground-cover. Can easily be forced in early spring. Height 9 inches. April, May. We can offer this variety in three colors.

macranthum rubrum. Reddish flowers. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10, $40 per 100.

niveum. Snow-white flowers. 35 cts. each, $3 for 10, $25 per 100.

pinnatum elegans. Yellow flowers. 50 cts. each, $4.50 for 10, $40 per 100.

HARDY AZALEAS

BRIGHTEST and most floriferous of shrubs. Azaleas planted this fall will produce a magnificent display next spring. The plants we offer are bushy and well set with flower-buds. Plant them in good soil, in full sunshine or partial shade, where they can be watered liberally at blooming-time, and they will flourish with amazing vigor, increasing in beauty and charm from year to year.

AMCENA. The bright rosy purple flowers are produced in a solid mass in May, and the hairy foliage assumes a pleasing bronze tint in the fall and winter months.

12 to 15-in. diam., $2.50 each, $22.50 for 10

AMCENA SUPERBA. A beautiful dark purple, shading darker toward inside center, while the outside purple shades to red. Hose-in-hose. Pretty, small, dark glossy green foliage. Compact, bushy plant.

12 to 15-in. diam., $2.50 each, $22.50 for 10

BENIGIRI. Evergreen leaves, rather narrow and slightly concave; nice compact habit. Flowers deep bright red, almost scarlet.

10 to 12-in. diam., $2 each, $18 for 10

12 to 15-in. diam., $3 each, $27.50 for 10

Azalea, Flame

FLAME. Brilliant madder-red, with coppery suffusion. Beautiful glossy green foliage.

12 to 15 in. high, $3 each, $25 for 10

HINOMAYO. New introduction of great merit. Resembles Hinodegiri in habit and general outline but the foliage is a little smaller. It blooms about the same time and the flowers are a wonderfully clear soft shade of pink. Almost evergreen.

12 to 15-in. diam., $3 each, $27.50 for 10

HINODEGIRI. A bright scarlet form of the well-known and charming Amcena, but far surpassing it in brilliancy and beauty. It is a profuse bloomer with round, evergreen foliage.

12 to 15-in. diam., $3.75 each, $32.50 for 10

INDICA ALBA (ledifolia alba). Pure white flowers. Luxuriant grower and profuse bloomer.

15 in. high, bushy, $2.75 each, $25 for 10

INDICA ROSEA (Hybrids).

Different shades of rose-colored flowers of great beauty. Upright growth.

14 to 16 in. high, $3 each, $25 for 10

KAEMPFERI. Large, beautiful fire-red flowers. Being absolutely hardy, it is a fine variety for our climate. Grows tall and bushy.

	Each
12 to 15 in. high	$2.50
15 to 18 in. high	3.00
18 to 24 in. high	4.00

KIMNAZOI. Single, deep red flowers, 1¼ inches in diameter; petals and leaves extremely narrow. Grows broad and bushy.

10 to 12-in. diam., $2.50 ea., $22.50 for 10

MORNING GLOW. Bright rose-pink, striped and blotched darker towards the center. Glossy green foliage.

10 to 12-in. diam., $2 each, $18 for 10

These are only a few of the most popular Azaleas which we list in our Nursery Catalogue. For other sizes and prices, please ask for quotation or consult our Catalogue, especially for specimens.
